

 Before continuing our 2nd round of iterations, one change we have to adopt is to use the new Tango design system<sup>(1)</sup>. With updated components, we quickly created a new spec for Milestone 1.3.

---

(1) Parallel with this project I was also leading the efforts on creating a new design system for Split's product experiences. It consists design foundations and a collection of reusable assets. More information can be found in the other case study.